Restoration

Bringing back the beauty and proper functionality of existing structures requires expertise and understanding of building technologies.

Pillar Construction offers the experience that an extensive portfolio of restoration projects provides and a detailed project management approach to deal with unforeseen conditions inherent to a restoration projects.

The exterior skin of a building has a limited life span and requires maintenance. Pillar Construction has worked on partial repairs and total re-skin of high-rise structures.

While fully occupied, the exterior cladding and sheathing were removed and new sheathing, air barrier and new finish cladding were installed. The new building skin performs to current energy requirements. The buildings not only regained the structural performance of the exterior components but they also got a face-lift and renewed look.
